

Populating Projects

You populate your project by creating new elements of various types (directories , packages and files). IntelliJ IDEA suggests the following alternative ways of accessing the corresponding functionality:

- File | New in the main menu.
- The New context menu command.
- The keyboard shortcut Alt+Insert.

As a result, the New menu is shown in which you select the type of an element to be created.

In this section:

- Creating Packages
- Creating Directories
- Creating Empty Files
- Creating Template-based Files
- Creating Java Classes, Interfaces, Enumerations and Annotations

See Also

Concepts:

- Project

Web Resources:

- Developer Community 