

Project Template

There are sample projects for various application types (e.g. Java, Java EE, Spring). Such projects are created according to pre-defined project templates and normally include sample code, a run configuration for that code, etc.

To create a template-based project, select the Create project from template check box and an option of interest in the area underneath.